

November 2018 National Corvette Museum Report

Since it near the end of the year and events are a little slow at the museum, I thought a little annual recap might be in order. This will all come from memory so if I leave anything out it because I've had a senior moment. Things get started in April at the museum with the Michelin bash, this year again it was a great success. Then in June a group of about 60 corvette enthusiast travel to Europe to view 24 hours of Lemans racing in France. They also get to visit Paris and London England.

Jack and Sandy Powell went on two Museum In Motions trips, one in New Orleans and one in Kentucky on the bourbon trail. The museum organizes these trips through the year all across the states. I thought the 3-day roundtrip to the museum led by Norm took place this year, but Norm corrected me, it was last November, where they toured the museum in record time and returned home and encountered rain the whole trip.

Next up is the anniversary bash at the end of August. This year it was the 24th anniversary with the granddaddy event coming next year number 25. I think maybe 12 cars are signed up so far. November is always military appreciation month at the museum with free admission for those in the military, police and firefighters along with their family. And now at the end of the year we have Christmas coming and the gift shop at the museum has a wide variety of gifts for the corvette enthusiast with free shipping for all orders over $75.
