

National Corvette Museum Report for July 2019

Going to turn my report around a little and give you the raffles first, you have two chances to win a Next Generation C8.

The first chance is a build your own C8 or $55,000 cash prize, tickets are $250 each and sales are limited to 1500 tickets. Raffle will be drawn on August 30th.

The next chance will be for vin 25 C8, tickets are $25 each with unlimited sales and this drawing will be on August 31st.

The drawing for this month is for a 2019 Arctic White Grand Sport Convertible, ticket are $200 each and sales are limited to 1000 tickets.

Remember in order to buy any tickets you must go on line to Raffle.corvettemuseum.org and download a ticket request form, fill it out and send it in.

Other news from the museum is the museum has a new President and CEO who is replacing retiring Director Wendell Strode who served for 23 years, his name is Dr Sean Preston who hails from Portland Oregon.

The National Corvette Museum has been nominated by USA Today as one of the 10 best reader choice awards for car lovers. Voting ends Monday, July 15th and the winners will be announced on July 26th. You can vote daily from your computer, mobile device or tablet. As of now the museum is in second place.

If some of you might have given thoughts on visiting the museum and then said what else is there to do in Bowling Green here are some suggestions. Bowling Green is two hours south of Louisville and one hour north of Nashville and both of these cities also have a lot to offer. You can satisfy your need for speed and take a few laps around the Motorsport track, do a tour of the Corvette assembly plant (when it's open), or if you like to go a little slower there is a go cart track. There are a number of distillery's nearby, along with a number of breweries. There are also a great number of good restaurants nearby. There is also the Mammoth Cave National Park which has biking and hiking and of course the deep hike way deep underground. There also a zip line nearby and if you want to chill out you can go to the happy yoga and salt cave. These are only a few of the adventures available around the Bowling Green area, go on to the city's web site for all the information

If you go, I hope you have a great time

Thanks Jim
